Amen or A-woman

In a nod to gender-neutral language, Representative Emanuel Cleaver II concluded his opening prayer for the launch of the 117th Congress with the words "amen and awoman." While it sounds like the kind of joke I might make, the fact is the congressman may have been seriously attempting to be inclusive.

The term amen's origins are from the Hebrew root for the word "Emunah," which means faith or belief. It is a gender-neutral term. Reciting Amen to a prayer or blessing demonstrates a statement of affirmation. Judaism teaches that when a leader says a blessing, and the congregation responds, "Amen," it is as if the entire community has fulfilled the mitzvah of saying the blessing. When Jews cannot recite an entire Hebrew prayer, a simple amen might suffice.

In American English, the word "amen" has two pronunciations, ah-men or ay-men. The ah-men pronunciation is the one that is used in performances of classical music and churches with more formalized rituals and liturgy. The ay-men pronunciation is associated with evangelical Christianity and the pronunciation that is typically sung in gospel music.

The great 15th-century philosopher Adar Banal explained the term as follows. He said the congregation's real purpose is to combat the idea that God is merely in the heavens above. God also dwells within you and me and makes the Divine presence known through the acts of our hands, the impulses of our hearts, and the healing nature of our deeds. To say Amen and not to act is meaningless. A passionate Amen requires that we get up from our prayers and work in our world according to the high ideals expressed.

Thus for our elected officials, we pray: May you never let an Amen pass your lips without being followed by actions that unify and heal our fractured nation.

May your actions serve all of our citizenry's needs regardless of ethnicity, faith, gender, sexual orientation, economic status, or political affiliation.

May this Congress, rather than paying lip service to our Constitution and founding fathers' highest ideals, strive to serve its citizenry as one nation, under God, indivisibly enacting liberty and justice for all.

Then indeed, we will conclude with a hearty AMEN.

Shalom,

Rabbi Judy Chessin

Mask Up

I had never been someone to wear a mask. I found masks to be hot, smelly, sticky, just all-around annoying. To avoid a big thing over my face or head, every year when Purim came around, I would always volunteer to be the person who would wear the elaborate costume with a wig or funny outfit, just as long as it didn't include a mask. Well, little did I know that masks would become reminiscent of the long-lost candies in jacket pockets – throwing on a jacket as I walk out the door and find my old mask crumpled in the pocket, needing to retrieve a new one from the sleeve of surgical masks in my car.

Hazah! Now! However! It has finally arrived at the time of year where my year-long mask-wearing practice would eventually become useful. Purim is here! It is in February, just weeks away. Now, you may say, "Purim is early this year," I would contend it is not, for it always falls on the same date...well, the same Hebrew date.

Purim. What a holiday! It was generally filled with reading the megillah, booing Haman, and eating little, strangely shaped cookies with all kinds of filling (I am partial to fruit fillings). Enjoying the bounce-houses, makeup, costumes, carnival games, prizes. Purim can be all kinds of fun, and this year, though it might not be the same as it has been in many past years, it will continue to build upon centuries of celebrations and merriment. At Temple Beth Or, our celebration will take place outside and in a manner which promotes safety and fun at the same time. Be sure to create a 'CARstume' to show off to the community. Most importantly, it's your chance to show just what your mask can do (and look like). Finally, an opportunity to bring masks to life and not only be useful but celebratory!

Hopefully, mask wearing will become a thing of the past in the not-so-distant future, but as we make our way through the COVID era, we have to pause to notice the good stuff.

This year, one of the good things that I have learned is that I will never again have to complain about being assigned the costume with a mask in any future Purim Spiel.

We look forward to seeing you reading Megillat Ester together on February 26th at our Shabbat service and celebrating together on Sunday, February 28th, in our parking lot celebration of Purim during Makor hours.

B'bracha (in blessing),
Rabbi Benjamin G. Azriel

Presidents' Message

Many people make new year's resolutions in January. I have never been successful at maintaining them. So, I have begun making monthly resolutions. If I fall off the wagon, I can reset and start working again toward my goals only a short time later. What are your goals for Temple Beth Or this year?

Perhaps you will attend more Shabbat services. With our current streaming services, you can participate while eating dinner or relaxing on the couch. If you are busy at 6:30 on Friday, you can watch another time. Or maybe you will try Tanach study on Saturday morning.

Perhaps you will become more active at Temple. Although the pandemic has limited our in-person activities, our committees are still working, and we always need volunteers. Consider joining the Member Services Committee, Fundraising Committee, or Religious Committee. We need your ideas and assistance.

Perhaps you will attend an adult education event. The Adult Education Committee has prepared informative and interesting events throughout the year.

This year resolve to make the most out of your Temple Beth Or membership. Become a vital part of the Temple Beth Or family. What a great way to celebrate our 36th year!

Ira Segalewitz and Joe Bettman will share timeless songs and the stories behind them, joined by Mary 'Mahira' Rogers on vocals and guitar, as they walk through a brief history of the Yiddish language, as expressed through music. Lyrics will be provided for each song (in English and Yiddish), encouraging a sing-a-long atmosphere throughout this virtual program.
